Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03096262A2] A medical diagnostics system and method enhanced by the application of an imagery data analysis instrument operative in the processing of imagery data for the purpose of generating meaningful imagery data summaries through the use of complexity calculation. Also disclosed is a system for electric potential data selection, analysis and summary for the facilitation of relevant data extraction, a system relating to audio data selection, analysis and summary for the facilitation of relevant data extraction and analysis and evaluation of human behavior stigmata obtained from various instruments measuring audio and visual output relating to a patient.
