Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1525814A1] The boot has two lacing zones (Z1, Z2), each with two pairs of lace-passage sections. The zones allow differentiated, separate tightening and adjustment of the lacing by a user, irrespective of lacing units. The zones extend between attachment and rapid tightening units to form an intermediate linking and pulling part. The part allows differentiated tightening and adjustment of the boot by gripping the intermediate part.
