Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1529512A2] The tub is of a specific shape matching the outer contours of the human body (P) and covered with a removable plastic foil (27). After the patient (P), which can have the skin covered with a pasteous treatment, has entered the tub water is let in underneath the foil (27). The edges of the foil (27) can be slightly moistened and stuck to the rim (13) of the tub resulting in the bottom of the foil (27) floating on the incoming water. Convex massaging areas (36) can be created in the foil (27) with nozzles (33) located at the bottom of the tub. The foil (27) can be disposed of after use.
