Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1536097A2] An architectural solar glare window protection system has a screen of slats, folds or plaited panels and an upper rail (12) incorporating an electric motor (14). The motor and its associated components are suspended by an overhead fixture (34) to a ceiling or wall. The drive unit and associated components are enclosed within a noise-insulated (20, 26) capsule (26, 28).
