Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2004003307A1] A modular wall segment (101) for constructing a wall includes two external layers (105, 107) of selected size and shape bonded to the opposite faces of a plurality of contiguously placed cellularized cement blocks (113). The segments (101) may be formed with end faces defining slots (114) of various configurations for receiving various types of fastening elements to enable a plurality of such segments (101) to be secured together in a modularized fashion.
