Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1553030A1] The disposal vehicle (1) to receive waste bins has at least one gripping arm (2) with two or more support components (11a) parallel to one another for gripping under a projecting section of a waste bin. At least one support component is movable along an imaginary connecting line between the support components. By means of the support components several bins can be raised parallel to one another with the movable support component being adjustable to the width of several bins standing side by side. An independent claim is included for the aforesaid gripping arm.
