Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1553350A1] The domestic appliance, and especially a cooking appliance, has on opposite side walls (9) of muffle corresponding side guide elements (11) and draw-out systems (59) which in a horizontal cooking chamber plane each support an insertion component (13). At least one of the guide elements and draw-out systems is detachably mounted independently of one another. The guide element and draw-out system are mounted independently directly in the side wall, or the guide element and draw-out system may have an adaptor for mounting in the side wall of the muffle.
