Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2004037304A1] The invention relates to a device (1) for delivering odorous substances, particularly for a motor vehicle, said device (1) comprising a control unit. The delivery of odorous substances into the interior can be adjusted by means of the control unit such that an actual value of an odorous substance concentration inside the interior ranges within a threshold of perception and a threshold of recognition. The odorous substance is transferred to an air flow for the interior by means of evaporation.
