Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1559338A2] The shoe has an upper formed of two pieces that are assembled by gluing. A set of carriers (121) is constituted of a strap made of synthetic textile material and disposed face-to-face along the length of a lacing zone (119). The carriers are assembled between two glue layers (130, 131) of the upper. A band (132) permits perfect folding and assembling of carriers at the upper.
