Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1559456A1] The device has a flexible link (36) that is linked to a lock (28) and cooperates with a return unit (52) that is arranged on a rear end of a slide (60). The slide, a spigot on front end of the slide, and a control button controls the return unit between opening and closing states such that the link provokes movement of the lock towards open or closed position depending on the state of the return unit.
