Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2840635A1] The device for maintaining the threshold bar (8) used to assemble at the door two facings which tends to be lifted at its ends comprises a female part (1) with toothed notches (2) and a male part (3) with toothed notches (4). The complementary notches fix the device on the door jamb (5). The male and female parts are provided with an anti-skid portion (6). The plate (7) of the male part is such that fixing of the device on the door jamb prevents the threshold bar from being lifted.
