Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1561697A1] The cap has a base part with a distribution orifice, and a cover. The cover has a tight nail (12) arranged for being engaged in the distribution orifice, when a wall of the cover is closed. The nail has a projection part (16) arranged for being retained in the base part. The nail has a groove (19) that defines an elastically deformable thin region (18) on which the projection part is arranged. An independent claim is also included for a container having a closure cap.
