Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004035413A1] A handle for a closure for closing an opening of a container, said handle comprising an engaging part (2) with engaging means for engaging with the closure, and a handling part (1) pivotally connected to the engaging part so as to allow the handling part to be folded into a folded configuration and unfolded into a non-folded configuration in relation to the engaging part, wherein the engaging means is adapted to establish a fixed engagement with the closure, to provide an improved handle, which supports handling of containers in a general way.
