Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1566499A1] The invention relates to a wall vent screen for a mortared wall, and the like, where the wall vent screen can be inserted entirely or substantially entirely into a joint, comprising a substantial flat first wall and a substantial flat second wall, where the first and the second wall at one side are spaced by means of a resilient bending area. This wall vent screen simplifies its placing considerable, both during mortaring and afterwards. The wall vent screen preferably is produced out of one piece, preferably out of flexible sheet material or metal. <IMAGE>
