Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1571287A1] The shutter has a case equipped with a flange (5) at each of its ends, and retractable assembly units. The retractable assembly units are constituted of a retractable line of assembly (2) cooperating with guiding and locking units (4) integrated at the level of each flange and deploying following double sliding motion. The line of assembly ensures assembling of the case in slides. An independent claim is also included for a process of installing a roller shutter.
