Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1576990A1] Arrangement for longitudinally adjusting two binding jaws of a ski binding comprises two connecting elements (9, 10), and a fixing device interacting with the connecting elements via elevations (11, 12) on the connecting elements and elevations (14) on the fixing device. The elevations are brought into/out of engagement by a relative movement parallel to the upper side of the ski. The elevations are oriented at least perpendicularly to the upper side of the ski. Independent claims are also included for: (1) Ski binding comprising the above arrangement; and (2) Ski comprising the above ski binding. .
