Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004061355A1] The invention relates to a retaining clamp (2), for the fixing of objects, in particular gas storage cylinders (1) for airbags, comprising a clamping band (3), encircling the object, which grips the object in a clamping manner, in particular, by means of mechanical assembly deformation (clamping means 11) and thus lies on at least one contact surface (16) on the object. The contact surface (16) is at least partly provided with a roughening (17) for improving the retaining effect between the retaining clamp (2) and the object and/or with a clamp fixing bolt (insert screw 5), which passes through an opening (40) in the clamping band (3) and has a head (9) on the inside of the clamping band (3). Said head (9) comprises at least one rotational fixing security edge (38) which prevents rotation of the clamp fixing bolt (insert screw 5) in counterposition against the inside of the clamping band (3).
