Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1589164A2] A simple method for assembling cubicles for shower or toilet applications has reinforced non transparent glass for the side panels and for the door. The side panels are supported on floor mountings (23) and the door panels (15), also of reinforced non transparent glass, cover the full width between the side panels and are set back between the side panels by not more than 100 mm. The doors are supported on floor mounted swivels (30) and have a gap of not more than 5 mm with the side panels. An upper support rail (32) provides an upper support for the side panels and includes upper swivel supports for the doors.
