Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1591986A2] The advertisement display (10), especially at the periphery of sports grounds and racing competitions e.g. a ski start point, has a standing trapezoid or triangular structure. It stands on a horizontal base with at least one visible side (13) to carry the advertisement. A base body (11) defines the display contour, of a pliable material with a support surface (12), and two angled surfaces for the displays meeting in a peak (15). A film, printed with the advertisement, is stretched over the angled surfaces, with winding/unwinding rollers (16,17) to move the film and change the displays, where the angled surfaces and/or the peak are of a low friction material.
