Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1600409A1] The format setting device has a sheet separator (3) that can be applied in or against the transport direction and transported to a belt table (4) with at least one transport belt (14) and transport rollers (19) associated with the belt table and adjustable to the rear edge of the sheets in contact with the front markers. The sheet separator is connected to a second support for the transport rollers so that the second support follows control movements of the sheet separator.
