Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1600572A2] The joint tape holder has two identical elements (1), each with several strip-shaped profiles with one U-shaped (4) and two straight sections. The profiles are arranged at a distance apart and parallel to each other on at least one rod that passes into an attachment plate (14) at one end for attaching the holding element to a lining sole. An independent claim is also included for a method of simultaneously manufacturing two concreting sections separated by a joint using an inventive holder.
