Abstract (en)
Improved system for air conditioning living spaces that incorporates a system for circulating conditioned water. The system comprises a tray (1) to which a sound-absorbing web is adhesively bonded, a panel (3) of capillary tubes through which conditioned water circulates, a layer of insulating material (4) being provided on this panel (3) to prevent energy losses, and it is characterized in that the layer of insulating material (4) is adhesively bonded over its entire edge to the inner perimeter of the tray (1). <IMAGE>
