Abstract (en)

A device (4) for fixing a shower unit height adjustment rod (2) comprises a support body (14), means of fixing suitable for fixing said support body to the wall and means of connection suitable for connecting at least one stretch of the said rod to the said support body to keep said rod in a predetermined position. The means of connection are suitable to be gripped in a releasable manner on a stretch of the external surface (2a) of the rod (2), thus permitting easy replacement of said rod (2).
