Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1616501A2] Office furniture has leg frame assemblies (4) on which a table top assembly (2) is fixed, and distributed along a longitudinal axis (D) of a table top (3) of the assembly (2). Each assembly (4) has a finite number of units fitted with each other to modulate configurations of the assemblies (4). The fixation of the assembly (2) is moved relative to a symmetry axis to create two portions having different lengths, in sectional planes (A, B). The units of the leg frame assemblies constitute a plate, a base, an extender, angular parts and upright rods.
