Abstract (en)
The installation has two different motives (5,8) on its surface (4), which can be converted through a control device (7) into an arrangement either visible or invisible to the beholder. The control device sets the arrangement of the motives depending on position of the door handle (2). It is linked to an acoustic signal emitter. The motives contain information such as advertizing, behaviour tips and can be slid over or relative to one another in order to attract attention.
