Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004099031A3] The invention relates to an individual packaging (1), for a pasty food product (P), for example, made from melted cheese or cocoa, characterised in having a pyramidal form and at least one tearing body (45), arranged along at least two sides of a triangle (17), forming a lateral face of the pyramid such as to allow access to the product (P) by removal of essentially all of said face. The pyramid has a square, triangular or rectangular base. The invention further relates to a method for production of such a packaging.
