Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004100843A1] A condom (1, 9, 12, 13, 15) comprises an elongate shaft section (5) with a rounded tip (8), a generally frustoconical guide section (6) tapering towards the shaft section (5), and a skirt (7) extending outwardly from the guide section (6). The condom (1, 9, 12, 13, 15) may be stored flat, optionally being produced from two sheets (2) of plastics material cut to shape and heatsealed together around a distal periphery (3). Openable pleats (10, 11) may be provided, extending across the skirt (7) and possibly also the guide section (6). The condom (1, 9, 12, 13, 15) may be made from a tough, relatively non-extensible plastics material and dimensioned to fit a penis slightly loosely to facilitate rapid application.
