Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1630299A1] Method for sinking a foundation comprises passing the foundation into a borehole with a first small diameter and deep mortaring with a second larger diameter below the foundation. An independent claim is also included for a drilling and mixing tool for carrying out the above method. Preferred Features: Deep mortaring is carried out with a diameter which can be varied in height and is started by pulling the drilling and mixing tool.
