Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004111342A1] A pontoon (1) for use in a lake, pool or corresponding water area includes a carrier element (2) and a support surface (9). The carrier element (2) is intended to realise buoyancy and the support surface (9) is intended to carry a load. The carrier element (2) and the support surface (9) are of one piece manufacture with one another. A series of carrier elements (2) with integrated support surfaces (9) are advantageously united with one another by means of an included frame (3). The carrier elements (2) included in the pontoon (1) have a shell and foamed material disposed therein.
