Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1645204A1] The device (1) has a specifically shaped stepped upper end (3, 4) for being joined to a handle. The application area (2) is slightly wider as the widest step and progressively flattened towards the lower edge (6). The upper surface is of a concave shape and the lower end provided with a diagonal edge (6) for drawing a perfect contour. The substance taken from a container is dispensed from several openings (7) and distributed across the lips.
