Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2005005081A1] The invention relates to a multi-layered product which is produced by coextrusion. The coextruded side thereof can be recognised more easily. Said product comprises a base layer containing transparent thermoplastic and at least one coextrusion layer which is different from the base layer, said coextrusion layer containing transparent thermoplastic. The invention also relates to a method for the production of said multi-layered product, and products which contain said multi-layered product.
