Abstract (en)
The dispenser has a slider (7) moving along an axial direction along a tubular skirt. A support (8) supports a cosmetic product. The slider and the support respectively form parts (70, 80). The parts are attracted by radial magnetic forces so that manual movement of the slider along the axial direction drives the support and product to emerge through an upper opening. The skirt, slider and support have non circular homothetic sections. An independent claim is also included for a utilization of the dispenser for forming a lipstick dispenser or deodorant stick dispenser.
