Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1652667A2] A joint (13) connects a manipulator arm (12) to a manipulator head (15), which has stops (18,19) pressed against the level surface of a printing form (4). The joint enables the head to tilt or swivel relative to the arm, or enables the arm to translate movement of the head along the level surface. An independent claim is also included for a method of suspending a printing form.
