Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2005014910A1] The invention relates to a beating apparatus for beating dry carpets and a method for beating carpets. The beating apparatus comprises a frame, at least one main shaft that has been arranged to rotate, and which shaft has been arranged in connection with the frame, and elongated beating elements that are fastened to the main shaft at their first ends and that rotate together with the main shaft. A roll has been arranged at the second end of the beating elements as a rotating beating head for beating and transporting the carpet through the beating apparatus.
