Abstract (en)
The device has an eyelet (15) including a guide (16) to orient a lace (14) along a direction having a vertical component. The eyelet has a lace locking device (17) with a set of teeth. An open type frame (9) to receive the lace is fixed at one end of a strap (8) whose another end is anchored to an outer upper. A pulling handle is fixed on the lace at its free end. An independent claim is also included for a ski shoe including a tightening device.
