Abstract (en)

[origin: DE102004049695A1] A comparatively large screen (8) is positioned in front of the operator providing him with information about the condition of the device and facilitating a correction or similar operation to be performed by touching the appropriate area (9, 11, 12, 13) of the screen (8). A servicing and operating manual (11a, 11b) can be accessed by pressing an additional key (10). The text can be provided in various languages to select from. A technician can use an integrated interface (14) for connecting the device to a test unit.
