Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1655431A2] The cabinet has a door and locks (10) whose components are flat. The components rest in sections that are running parallel to each other. The sections run parallel to the section of a door leaf (3) at which the locks are attached. The locks have operating mechanisms with latches which are swivelably attached to the door. The mechanism has control devices using which the position of the latches are adjustable.
