Abstract (en)

Bracelet fastening device for watches and jewels allowing the user to change the bracelet rapidly and without tool. The bracelet strand (3) is held by the horns (1) of the base element (9) that are not parallel to one another and that form a necking so as to resist to traction. The locking of the bracelet strand (3) along the vertical axis is ensured by a tongue (6) introduced in at least one recess (12) of the bracelet strand. The tongue is placed in this position following an action on a rotating element of the watch or jewel.
