Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2004110658A1] A method for cleaning a pipe (2) carrying a product gas containing impurities, said pipe being substantially rectangular in cross-section. The invention is so implemented that solid and/or liquid impurities are detached from the walls of the pipe (2) and returned into the device (1), such as a gas generator, producing the product gas. The invention also relates to an apparatus implementing the method.
