Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1507179A1] The corrector has control units (18, 19) permitting introduction of information relative to a fact that current month comprises of less than thirty one days. Programming units are coupled to a wheel of thirty-one (10). The programming units respond to the information introduced by the control unit, such that a data display unit of a clock piece is corrected at the end of the current month.
