Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2004083352A1] The aim of the invention is to provide washing or cleaning agents or auxiliary washing agents that effect on the surfaces thereby treated or contacted a reduction of the bacterial count. The inventive agents are inexpensive to produce, easy to process, stable and can also be used on surfaces that come into direct contact with the skin or mucous membranes. They contain silver in elemental and/or oxidized form, preferably in finely divided form and especially in colloidal form.
