Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1693115A1] The dispenser has a pump with a pump housing (6). A resting profile of a functional section (20) is provided with a medium that produces radial elastic flexibility. The resting profile is attached to a protection section radially opposite to another resting profile attached to the pump housing. The latter profile is carried along with the functional section and radially supported at the former profile. An independent claim is also included for an assembling method for a dispenser.
