Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1693928A2] The system has a mounting frame (40) fastening a socket that is accessible from outside or a connector in a mounting opening of a wall (41). A locking hook and a locking opening removably lock the socket with the connector in a common plugging position. The frame is provided with an opening aid (50), through which the hook and the opening are released under effect of operating force directed through the mounting opening from outside.
