Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1696085A2] The socket has a hollow space that forms a rear part. A front part is connected to a rear part by a front wall (9), where the rear part is provided with an opening for inserting wall sided ends of a console. The front wall over a contact area of wall sided ends (19) of the console comprises a larger thickness than an area adjacent to a support area. A bead is provided on an outer surface of the socket.
