Abstract (en)
The fork lift truck has a multi-member link arm (14) has a controllable movable carrier for the load receiver (12). This arm extends from a linkage point (32) below the cabin (8) to the load receiver (12). The members (14a, 14b, 14c) of the link arm are connected to each other by turning bearings (22, 24), and can move relative to each other to handle the load receiver.
