Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1698736A2] The facade has vertically and or horizontally running carrier carrying an attachment, which holds facade components. The carrier (1) has a lengthwise-running groove (10), into which sections of an attachment part (3) are provided. The attachment part (2) is connected and actuated to the carrier by an inelastic deformation formed material. The attachment is designed as a channel profile (29) having a threaded channel (28). The attachment profile is U-shaped. An independent claim is included for a facade assembly method.
