Abstract (en)

[origin: US2007220661A1] (EN) The aim of the invention is to create a pair of men's boxer shorts (10), which are provided with a front part (11) and a rear part and with a band (14) running along the front part and rear part, in which a certain support during wearing is made possible in the form of a type of athletic support. To this end, the inside of the front part (11) is provided with an insert part (30), which extends on both sides of its longitudinal center and which has a free edge (36, 37) each facing away from the longitudinal center. In addition, both free edges (36, 37) are united in or near the crotch area (17) while forming a trough-like area (39) by the lower area of the insert part (30).
