Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1710158A1] The machine for filling and sealing containers has a rail (1) along which the containers are passed at a uniform speed by a conveyor screw. They pass through a filling station (4) with individual outlets (10) which fit into each container. A filling unit (6) has hoses (8) which connect with inlets (9) to supply contents to the containers. The containers then pass to a second unit (14) which fits lids. An independent claim is included for a method for filling and sealing containers using the machine.
