Abstract (en)

A washing machine having a rinse agent dispenser (30) and control method thereof. The rinse agent dispenser (30) is directly connected with a water tub (11) to automatically dispense a rinse agent into the water tub (11) via an adjustment of a level of wash water contained in the water tub (11) without requiring a separate water supply device. The washing machine includes the water tub (11), the rinse agent dispenser (30) connected with the water tub (11) to dispense the rinse agent into the water tub (11) via an adjustment of the level of the wash water contained in the water tub (11), water supply means to supply the wash water into the water tub (11), drainage means to drain the wash water from the water tub (11), and a controller to control the supply and drainage of the wash water by the water supply means and drainage means, thereby adjusting the level of the wash water in the water tub (11).
