Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1717151A1] The method involves packing panels (P) with a decorative film, in which the decorative film is printed with individualized information before or after packing. The printed information relates to orders and charges for the panels, product description or laying instructions. The decorative film may be provided in the form of shrink-film or flexible film. A digital printing system is used for printing the individualized information on the decorative film. Markings are also provided to indicate where to cut the packing. Indicators are also printed on the exterior or interior of the film.
